Hannah's Willberry Wonder Pony Charity

The equestrian community and people all over the world have been following the story of 18 yr old Hannah Francis, who has terminal bone cancer, and her mascot Willberry Wonder Pony. Together Hannah and Willberry have inspired, amazed and brought tears to many eyes.

Hannah's dream is that the charity she set up, Hannah's Willberry Wonder Pony Charity, will be her legacy and keep #kickingcancersbutt. The charity will support research into bone cancer, particularly osteosarcoma, and grant equine related wishes to seriously ill people.

Our Celebrity Guest 'Wocket Woy'

The history....

We all know them as Batch and the Pwducer, but where did it all begin?

Jump jockeys Mattie Batchelor & Marc Goldstein both came to riding quite late in life. At 16, Marc or 'The Pwducer' was quite a good footballer and didn't initially want to follow in the family footsteps of racing. Now one of the top jockeys often seen around local track Plumpton, his notable rides include riding the last ever winner at Folkestone and recently riding over the big fences at Aintree.

It was a pony ride on a family holiday to Ireland at aged 15 that got Mattie hooked. A few jumping lessons and many years of experience later and Mattie is a leading name in jump racing with his biggest win in the Hennessey Gold Cup and notable wins at the Cheltenham Festival.

Friends for 12 years, Mattie and Marc begun working together at Sheena West Racing in 2014. Messing about at work on their phones, Mattie loved being in front of the camera and with Marc's creative ideas and their natural chemistry together, the pair have become household names in the equestrian world.

During the evenings frolics 'Wocket Woy' will cut Sam Penn's hair in aid of Wilberry Wonder Pony, to donate to this very brave gesture and help Sam raise her target of raising £1000, follow to link to donate.
